Fontainebleau Castle

Description

Located 55 kilometers southeast of Paris, the Fontainebleau Castle or Palace of Fontainebleau is an iconic palace of great historical importance. On top of housing many French kings and emperors throughout the late medieval years, it is also one of the largest castles of its kind. Initially built as a fortified castle in the first half of the 12th century, it was improved and turned into the current Palace up until the end of the 18th century, on the eve of the French Revolution.
