

Stockholm City Hall

Description

At the end of the 1800s, Stockholm was looking for a new City Hall to replace the previous one. They agreed on a design from architect Ragnar Östberg, and the construction was engaged for eleven years, from 1911 to 1922. The new City Hall is an impressive building in red bricks with its copper dome and imposing façade. It is located in the center of Stockholm and houses the offices of the Mayor.
